EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

CUFFEE ON TOP.

The Supreme Court Speaks—Negroes Eligible to Office—Brown Gulps his Marietta Flash—McCoy True to Sambo—Warner all Right.

The Supreme Court of Georgia to-day rendered a decision that the negro is eligible to office.

Brown and McCoy for it, and Warner dissenting. The room was crowded with interested spectators.

Judge McCoy delivered the opinion of the Court, with much oratorical flourish. He premised his legal enunciations with a political harangue, in manuscript, declaimed with much vigor, and garnished with suitable dramatic action.

As he and Chief Justice Brown had different reasons for thinking the same way, each read an opinion.

Both were able it must be admitted, but each smelled rank of political phylacteries. We can not, before going to press this afternoon, more than allude to the theory of each.

Judge McCoy gave a baker's dozen of reasons, unto him convincing. He thought the State was without civil government before the mongrel Convention that made the present Constitution: that blacks and whites participated in getting up the Convention and framing the Constitution, and it was against its spirit and philosophy to exclude black or white from the privileges unless expressly prohibited.

Justice Brown parried diplomatically all specifics, and swam in a huge legal generality. The 14th Amendment forbids anybody being deprived of privilege, and as the Code gives citizens the right to hold office, and the Constitution makes him a citizen and dont forbid him to hold office, he did not intend to break that 14th Amendment and knock the negro out of his rights.

Judge Warner elaborated the simple and unanswerable point, that the Negro was a new political creature in the body politic, that he must hold office by special enactment; that the Code which defined the powers of citizens was enacted before he became a citizen, and therefore did not apply to him; that he did not have the right to hold office under the common law, nor by statute since he was made a citizen, but that the Convention voted down the proposition to make him eligible to office, and that until he was especially authorized to hold office, he was ineligible.

The whole Court reversed some of the minor rulings of the Court below, which we will give in the morning edition.

Our Visit to Athens.

On Saturday morning we bade adieu to the Gate-City, and turned our face towards a spot endeared to us by many tender reminiscences and fond recollections—our native city, Athens. The Georgia Railroad, over which we passed, seems to be admirably managed, judging by the good condition of its road-bed and rolling stock; and, fortunately, they have succeeded in obtaining conductors who are model officials. On the same train was a striking illustration of life. Going to the same place that we were, were a funeral party and a newly married couple. A father was sitting by the side of the remains of a loved son—the casket from whence the jewel had been taken. Death had detached the delicate blossom from the parent stem. There, with a heart bruised by the blow, sat the father watching the corpse with tenderness and love.

In another car were a couple who had recently been united together at the hymenial altar. The husband, in the full glow of manhood—whose manly physique gave evidence of vigor, and whose massive brow betokened an active intellect, sat, with a face illuminated with the softened tints of love, by the side of a lady, remarkable for loveliness of person, rare accomplishments, and amiable disposition.

No cloud of care or sorrow darkened their horizon, and in the fulness of their enjoyment they felt like exclaiming of wedded life:

"Thy golden chains are inlaid with down.
Thy lamp, with heaven's own splendor bright."

We found the people of Athens the same high-toned people they always were.

The wheat grown by the members of the Athens Wheat Club, has been threshed, but the actual result was not definitely known. We may safely say that the highest yield per acre, is forty-six bushels, on the lot of Dr. Hamilton. We will give our readers the report of the committee on the yield in a few days. The Wheat Club has been converted into an Agricultural Society, and its scope extended. Our friend, Capt. Brumby has a litter of Woburn and Chester pigs just seven months old, which average over one hundred and sixty pounds—the largest an open sow, weighing one hundred and seventy-five pounds. He pronounces the cross better than the thoroughbreds.

The factories are all being enlarged and are putting in new machinery. The stocks of each are above par. Athens Factory stock cannot be had at $175—$100 being par. R. L. Bloomfield, Esq., is the popular and energetic agent of this factory. He is a thorough going, live business man, and every thing he touches, whether it is factory stock or real estate, improves.

The Paper Mill is being greatly enlarged and improved by the addition of new machinery, and will, when finished, quadruple its former productions.

Messrs. Brumby and Bacon have a Steam Tannery capable of turning out 10,000 sides of leather annually. It worked to its full capacity. They expect to commence the manufacture of shoes about the middle of July, and expect to make two hundred pair per day, using the most improved machinery and stock of the best quality.

A number of new buildings are in process of construction. Among others, we noticed, a large and handsome edifice designed for a Town Hall, which will be used by the Masons; the lower floor for stores, and the second floor for offices.

The large and capacious building known as "Cook's Armory" is now for sale. It has both water power and is well adapted as a site for a cotton factory. If devoted to such a purpose, its stock could soon be made as valuable as that of the Athens Factory.

Mr. Bancroft has several acres of English wheat which he did not enter for the premium. It is very fine, and a yield of at least sixty bushels per acre is anticipated by him. His crop of cotton is exceedingly promising, and he will equal, if not exceed, the results of last year—seventeen bales of four hundred and fifty pounds each on nine acres.

We were rejoiced to meet with a number of old friends, and to witness the prosperity of a town and people as dear to us almost as life itself.

As we returned home, at Conyers we observed upon that Unity Pole and Thompson, with their Restaurants and Cafes, into the shade. It bore but two words in black letter—"Cook Shop."

STATE CORRESPONDENCE.

CUTHBERT, June 14. 1869.

Col. Avery: I left the Gate City Saturday evening, hence saw nothing of the country until this side of Macon.

The crops for the 113 miles between Cuthbert and Macon, are very pretty. Stands of cotton unusually regular, and the plant, though not large for the date, is very healthy and growing. Corn, of the rich dark green, that speaks of good seasons and fertilizers. From the neighborhood of Flint River—this way it is about as high as the fences, some of them are low. The cotton from half-leg to knee high.

It rained on us several showers yesterday and is gently raining to-day, which is truly grateful to the farmers.

I have never seen less grass in crops, or more evidences of general good cultivation.

AMICUS AGRICOLAE.

State of Things in Gwinnett Co.

GWINNETT CO., GA., June 13, 1869.

Editor of The Constitution—Dear Sir: As THE CONSTITUTION is a regular visitor at my house, and as I see you have correspondents scattered over the State that furnish me with news, through your columns, that I gladly receive, and as I never see my beloved old county mentioned, I therefore make an effort, though feeble it may be, to represent old Gwinnett. We have no Reb K. K. here; we are all at work trying to rebuild our lost fortunes, and we stay at home and attend to our own business.

Our crops are backward, but look flourishing; wheat pretty fair, some rust; oats generally good; corn looks well but not enough planted; cotton is small, but the late showers and hot sun are bringing it up from the stand it had taken; we have a plenty of fruit to eat and to dry.

We are beginning to improve our extensive plantations by using the big plows and guanos, and in a few years we will live once more. Hands are very scarce; no plantation has a sufficient force to cultivate it well.

As for politics old Gwinnett is right-side up, although there are a few strait-haired men that say they are in favor of Negro Equality, and from the company they keep, no man disputes it.

Respectfully yours, DEMOCRAT.

Letter From Warrenton.—New Particulars.

We have a lengthy and interesting letter from our own correspondent, about the Warrenton trouble. As the body of the particulars have been previously given, and our space is crowded, we give only extracts from this letter:

WARRENTON, GA., June 11, 1869.

Mr. Editor: About four weeks ago, a garrison of about one hundred and fifty troops were sent to our peaceable town. The officers and men were soon found to be such as they ought to be, and the little excitement of our people soon subsided. This quiet was slightly disturbed on the 4th instant, by the arrival of Mr. J. C. Norris, ex-Sheriff of Warren county, with a small guard from your city. Mr. Norris vacated his office as Sheriff about three months ago, and exiled himself in "the city of refuge." Mr. Norris returned to Atlanta on the 5th instant, and on the 7th, returned with a stronger body guard of about one hundred and fifty men.

It was learned also that Norris said he had come to be a Sheriff in this county awhile, anyhow," and that he had a great many arrests to make for various outrages committed in the county.

Knowing, too well, this man's character, for vindictiveness, his utter heartlessness, and disregard of innocence when opposed to him, or in his way, a state of terror prevailed, I am unable to describe.

On the day of his return, Mr. Raley, the Sheriff was in camp on business with Maj. Van Voast, and while there was gobbled up by Norris, placed under guard, and was refused to see or know the cause of his arrest and detention. Mr. Raley did graciously get permission to send a note to Col. Pottle, his attorney, and Dr. Hubert his friend, and the Ordinary, asking them to go to the Camp to look into the case, and do for him the best that could be done.

It was soon learned that this man (?) Norris was bent on his bad purpose to imprison in jail, Mr. Raley. While Colonel Pottle was protesting against such a course as improper and illegal, and said the jail was a place for felons and not gentlemen, this man threatened to arrest him, for these words, so insulting to his position and power. Think of that Mr. Editor.

While all dispatch was used to get out a writ of habeas corpus to relieve Mr. Raley from the seeming odium of going to jail, Norris placed every opposition in the way his fiendish heart could devise, and hurried Mr. Raley, with a guard of about forty men, to the jail, and there thrust him in, saying, "that is good enough for you," and had the jail well guarded.

Under writs of habeas corpus the prisoners were all released, by giving bond and good security. The illegality of the arrest was waived, and bail was considered the best course to be pursued, as there was no trouble in giving bail for any amount; every citizen in the county present was willing to go on the bonds, and one side of foolscap paper was not enough to hold the names of those who did sign the bonds, except by making two columns of names on one page.

On Tuesday afternoon late, a Bill of Injunction by Judge Andrews of the Northern Circuit Superior Court, was served on Norris, enjoining him from discharging any of the duties of Sheriff until further orders. Thus the supremacy of Civil Law prevailed and we are now in the enjoyment of quiet, but daily looking for something to turn up.

Yesterday, Col. Farrow, Attorney General for the State, arrived here. He has gone to Adkins' neighborhood to look into the Adkins murder.

It is not my purpose to vindicate our character as a county. That outrages have been committed we acknowledge, but they might have occurred any where and at any time. Our people deplore these things as much as any people can, condemn them openly, and are ready to execute the law without regard to consequences. As a people, we are peaceable and law abiding. There is nothing we desire so much as peace, and if let alone, we would soon demonstrate that we are capable of self-government.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Delano will require the removal from bond and complete settlement of all matters pertaining to bonded whisky, by the first of July.

Recent Rio Janeiro letters seem to confirm the reports that Lopez has McMahon under restraint.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—The Knight Templars' procession extended one mile. The Grand Commandary officers and Chaplains were mounted and wore white plumes, gay sashes, and gold hilted swords. They made a brilliant display. Several Commandaries marched in triangles and crosses, which novelty provoked great applause. It was a great success. The houses along the line of march were beautifully decorated.

COTTON BOWLS.—The first cotton bowl of the growing crop which we have seen in this section, was brought up from the plantation of Messrs. Smith and Ross, in Houston county, on Tuesday.—Macon Telegraph, 13th.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Thursday night, the down train from Atlanta, due here at 9½ o'clock, ran over and killed a man, by the name of Jack Smith, about two miles above this place. He had been in town during the day and started home late, and is supposed to have laid down on the road while under the influence of liquor. No blame can attach to the engineer, who made every effort to stop the train before reaching the man, but could not do so.—Ibid.

THE Rome Courier tells us that the Masonic Hall of Cherokee Lodge, No. 66, will be dedicated on the 24th. Address by Rev. H. C. Carter. Judge Nathan Yarborough is Assistant Assessor in the Fourth District, vice J. J. Armstrong. The heavy rains may injure the wheat crop, only half harvested. Wadsworth Mill ground 310 bushels of meal in 11 hours. The wheat on the Etowah will average ten bushels to the acre. Cotton small.

THE Daily (Atlanta) CONSTITUTION is a live, and practical paper. Its news is reliable, its selections varied and interesting, its editorials chaste, free from surplusage, and dignified.—Newnan Peoples' Defender.

WE'RE NOT BLOWING.—Some of these days, or months at farthest, a train of cars will arrive in Newnan, direct from Griffin. The Savannah Griffin and North Alabama Railroad is destined to an early completion to this point. The work is going on at present, and as much of the distance is graded, but little time will be required to complete it thus far on its way to the West. —Ibid.

THE Era seems to be hurt that the New Orleans Bee complimented THE CONSTITUTION. There is no better mark of an ungenerous nature, than envy at the success of others. A chivalric rival would have been far from trying to belittle a courteous, honest, and unsought compliment from a journal of high standing, to a distant contemporary.

THE Era surmises that our Local in his late trip to New Orleans and Memphis, met the editor of the Bee. To relieve our contemporary of his conjectural and magnificent suspicions, we would state that our local, in his absence, met no attaches of the Bee anywhere; and that is debatable as it may be to show otherwise, there is no room to suppose otherwise than the Bee paid its honest tributes to the intrinsic merits of THE CONSTITUTION.

Our city contemporary is also much exercised that we stated that Mr. Stanton, a Boston man, and Superintendent of the Wills Valley Railroad, kindly helped the Dade county farmers to save their wheat.

We expect to still continue to do justice, to worthy Northern men who come among us to make good citizens, in contrast with political adventurers who seek to grasp control of our State by fomenting civil trouble, maligning our people, and playing the role of partizan harlotry.

THE Air-Line Eagle says the crop of wheat is the heaviest that has been raised for years. The Cedar Mountain Springs, in Lumpkin county, are rapidly coming into celebrity fast.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA:::::::JUNE 16.

The Birth Day of the Constitution

A year ago to-day, THE CONSTITUTION began its existence. It launched out boldly into a hot sea of turbulent politics, and from the first, it has carried a proud crest and an unfurled banner. Whatever may be said of its short-comings, it has stuck to the true faith, with deathless tenacity.

Perhaps few journals have achieved a more stable success in the South, in the same period than THE CONSTITUTION. Free of all incumbrances, with a heavy subscription list of friends, steadily gaining in favor, it enters upon the second year of its life with buoyant hope.

A new era is dawning upon the country we trust and believe. True, bad men are still conspiring to throttle growth, and balefully injure a great commonwealth; but patience, sagacity and honor will bring us all right. Once relieved from the horrible prospect of Provisional satrapies and military rule, with our energies unhampered and the field open to us for a free fight, we will grow grandly to majestic power, and wield the influence due to our capabilities.

Georgia to-day holds a front place among the Southern States for enterprise and probable greatness. Atlanta is confessedly leading the race in municipal growth, and THE CONSTITUTION means to be the type and representative of its booming advance.

With an enlarged sheet, with the employment of the best editorial talent, with a heavy corps of correspondents, with the free use of every newspaper appliance, with a lavish lubrication of money, work and brain, this journal shall keep apace with the advancing prosperity of the State and city.

Nor does our growth interfere with any journal save our city contemporaries, with whom we shall always be ready to maintain a fair and liberal rivalry; and even they can derive benefit from us by emulating our enterprise. As for our other State contemporaries, they are all interested in having a first-class, wide-awake paper at the seat of government.

To our many friends who have journied with us upon the wearisome and thorny path of daily journalism, we give grateful acknowledgments. Will you not still accompany us, and by practical assistance and encouragement aid us in building up a news medium, that will be a credit to a progressive, moral, refined and intelligent people; that will be the advocate of all material improvements; that will represent the thinking, honorable, portion of our citizens; and that will ever be found upon the side of the right in morals, the practical in business, and the independent and just in politics?

DECISIONS

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA

Delivered at Atlanta, Tuesday, June 15.

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION, BY N. J. HAMMOND, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.]

In said case the Court were unanimous in reversing the judgment below, but agreed to do so upon different grounds.

The judgment of the full Bench, and of the majority, are given below. The reasons why each of them held his particular views, were stated at great length by each, but they are, of course, subject to any changes which the several judges may make in writing out their opinions, and we cannot give them now.

McCay delivered the opinion. (By the whole Court): Where there there was a quo warranto, and a demurrer, and, also an answer denying a material fact, and a jury summoned to try the issue, and the defendant called up the demurrer, and no objection was made to the hearing of it at that time, and the demurrer was heard, as a distinct motion, and a distinct judgment was had thereon before the issue was presented to the jury: Held, that in the argument on the demurrer the defendant had the right to open and conclude.

2. The statements of a register of voters, that he had marked a registered person's name with a "c," to demonstrate that he was a colored person, and had posted his lists, for some time, in a public place, and that no application had been made to have the said letter "c" erased, is not evidence that the person is a colored person, (it not being shown that the person knows of the entry, and that it was the subject of conversation.)

3. Although a copy of a paper, proven to be beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, is good secondary evidence of its contents, yet it must be shown that the original was duly executed.

4. An application for a Life Insurance, though signed by the applicant, upon the back of which was an entry, by the examining physician, that the applicant was a mulatto, is no evidence of the fact, unless it be proven, that the person signed the paper, after the entry on the back was made by the physician, and with the knowledge of the entry, and with intent to adopt it, or that he used the paper after the entry was made with a knowledge that such entry was there.

5. The statement by an examining physician, that he had at a certain time examined a person, and had then been of opinion that the person was a mulatto is not evidence. If the physician is an expert, he must give his present opinion, and if not, he must state the facts on which he bases his opinion.

6. Whether or not a person is colored—that is, has African blood in his veins—is matter of opinion, and a witness may give his opinion, if he state the facts on which it is based. Whether the fact that one has one-eighth of such blood, be matter of opinion. Quere?

7. One who testifies that he has studied Ethnology, may give his opinion as an expert on a question of race.

8. Pedigree, relationship, and race, may be known by evidence of reputation, among those who know the person, where pedigree or race is in question.

9. By a majority of the Court—Warner dissenting. Where a quo warranto was issued charging that a person holding an office, was ineligible when chosen, because of his having in his veins ¼ or more of African blood, and there was a demurrer to the information as well as an answer denying the fact; upon which denial there was an issue, and a trial before a jury. Held: That by the Code of Georgia, a person having ¼ or more of African blood in his veins is not ineligible to office in this State, and it was error in the Court to overrule the decision, and to charge the jury, that if the plaintiff proved the defendant to have one-eighth or more of African blood, he was ineligible to office in this State.

BROWN, C. J.

1. A Deputy Sheriff is liable to rule for failing or refusing to pay over money collected by him. But he is subject to the control of the Sheriff; and if he collects money on a fi. fa., and pays it over to the Sheriff whose deputy he is, he is not liable to rule at the instance of the plaintiff in fi. fa. after such payment. In such case the plaintiff must pursue his remedies against the Sheriff.

W. D. Kiddoo, for defendant in error.

1. An injunction will not be granted for fraud unless the bill sets forth the specific acts of fraud upon which it is sought—a general allegation of fraud is insufficient.

2. An injunction will not be granted to restrain the sale, by defendant of his railroad stock, and the drawing of the dividends by him; on the ground that complainant holds his covenant of warranty of title to a lot of land, the title of which is in dispute in an action of ejectment, when the bill shows that the railroad stock and other property of the defendant, is of much greater value than the sum for which he may become liable on his warranty, and there is no charge that he is beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, or that he is insolvent, and no other sufficient equitable ground is stated in the bill.

3. When the Chancellor, on the bill being presented to him, ordered that the defendants show cause, on a day mentioned, why an injunction should not be granted, and that, in the mean time, the defendants be enjoined, till the further order of the Court and on the hearing, the Judge having refused the injunction. Held: That the temporary injunction expired of its own limitation when the injunction was refused at the hearing, and that no vitality could be given to it pending the proceedings in this Court, by bond given by complainant, which is claimed to operate as a supercedeas of the judgment refusing the injunction.

W. A. Hawkins, for plaintiff in error.

BROWN, C. J.

1. The owner of a plantation employed freedmen to cultivate it for part of the crop, and agreed to furnish provisions, but being unable to do so, applied to plaintiffs to furnish them to prevent a failure of the crops, stating that any arrangement they might make with the freedmen to secure the same upon the growing crop would be satisfactory to her: Held, that it was error in the Court to refuse to permit plaintiffs to give these facts in evidence on the trial.

2 Where the evidence shows that it was the intention of the parties to create a lien on the growing crop, under the act of 1866, for provisions furnished to make the crop; as the statute prescribes no form; the words "sell, mortgage and convey," are sufficient for that purpose.

Judgment reversed.

BROWN, C. J.

1. A deed which has not been recorded can not be given in evidence as color of title without proof of its execution.

2. When both parties derive their title from the same person, plaintiff in ejectment need not show title into such person.

3. In a proceeding to foreclose a mortgage on real estate, the Superior Court of the county where the land lies, has jurisdiction of the subject matter, and a purchaser at Sheriff's sale, under a judgment of foreclosure, now claimed to have been without service, will be protected, when the rule absolute shows upon its face that a copy of the rule Nisi was served upon the mortgagor according to law.

4. When service of the rule was acknowledged by a general agent of the mortgagor, who now testifies that he was not specially authorized to acknowledge service of the rule; and it appears in evidence that the plaintiff in ejectment held the mortgaged premises under the mortgagor, by deed younger than the mortgage; and that he was in Court when the rule absolute of foreclosure was taken, and made no objection to the judgment of foreclosure, it is not void as to him; and he will not be permitted to attack it collaterally for want of service in action of ejectment against the purchaser at Sheriff's sale, of the mortgaged premises. Judgment reversed.

Hood & Kiddoo, for plaintiff in error.

James J. Waring, plaintiff in error, vs. The Georgia Medical Society, defendant in error. Mandamus from Chatham.

BROWN, C. J.

1. When a voluntary society applies for a charter and is incorporated to promote its objects; the acceptance of the charter subjects it to the supervision of the proper legal authorities having jurisdiction in such cases.

2. The Georgia Medical Society is a private civil corporation, and the corporators have a property in the franchise of which they can not be deprived without due process of law.

3. The ninth by-law of this corporation is a legal and proper one, in view of the objects of the Society; but the Society has not an uncontrolable discretion in its construction and enforcement. When a proper case is made the Courts are to construe it, and judge of the legality of the action of the Society under it.

4. The Superior Court of Chatham county, where this corporation is located has the visitorial power over it, with authority to redress any wrongs which the corporation may inflict upon its members.

5. Where a corporator has a clear legal right which has been violated by the corporation, and he has no other adequate legal remedy, he is entitled to relief by mandamus.

6. The record in this case shows that the society censured Dr. Waring for doing that which the law not only authorizes but encourages; and the return to the mandamus nisi shows no sufficient cause for his expulsion. He is therefore entitled to a peremptory mandamus, commanding and compelling the Society, to restore him to all his rights and privileges as a corporator.

Hartridge and Chisolm, for plaintiff in error.

S. H. Mims, plaintiff in error, vs. The State of Georgia, defendant in error. Vagrancy from Early.

BROWN, C. J.

The evidence in this case was clearly insufficient to support the verdict; and the judgment is therefore reversed, and a new trial granted.

J. K. Appling, A. Hood, for plaintiff in error. S. Wise Parker, Solicitor General, for the State.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

DISTRICT COLUMBIA.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The Revenue to-day is nearly a half million.

The printers employed by Clapp, held a preliminary meeting regarding the action of the National Union. Proceedings indicate that Clapp will be sustained by his employees. The negro Douglass continues at the case.

The Treasury Department has advices of the murder of Frank Dumont, Inspector of Customs for Texas, near Brownsville, supposed to have been killed by smugglers.

Intelligence received here from Cuban sources, of the fight between the revolutionary forces and the Spanish troops, tacked in the entrenchments by the Spaniards, nearly double that number, and were twice repulsed. The loss of the Cubans numbering about 2,000, says they were at were less than one hundred killed and wounded. That of the attacking party three times greater. The Spaniards retreated, leaving a number of killed and wounded on the field. The result of this battle has had a most encouraging effect upon the Cuban army, which is reported gaining strength every day, from the very best portion of the people of the Island.—The want of harmony between the officers in command of the Government troops in the field, and volunteers who have taken possession of the Government of the Island, is exhibiting itself in a demoralization of the Spanish troops, and the large number of deserters to the Cuban army. This condition of things has given new impulse and strength to the Cuban cause, the leaders having no doubt of ultimate success. A number of recruits, mostly from Virginia, left here, Washington, yesterday and to-day, to join a force which are rendezvousing on the Southern coast, preparatory to joining the Cuban army.

It is not true, as rumored in recent a cable telegram, that in an official communication, Minister Motley intimated that the American Administration concurs in the reasons which led the Senate to reject the Alabama treaty. Such was not the tenor of his instructions concerning his intercourse with her Majesty's Government, and it is not, therefore, considered probable, that he would make that assertion. It is, however, certain that he was instructed to explain the circumstances attending the rejection of the treaty, without committing this Government to any line of policy, but at the same time standing by the rejection of the treaty.

Minister Motley is not instructed to make any proposition for the settlement of the claims, but to say that in view of the irritation in England, owing to the rejection of the treaty, the present is not an auspicious time to propose the re-opening of negotiations. In other words the temporary postponement of the question is desirable, with the hope that when the excitement shall sub ide, her Majesty's Government will invite a re-opening of negotiations. He is not authorized to announce the readiness of our Government to make any proposition on that subject, nor to demand the payment of the amount of damages, national as well as individual, but to assure her Majesty's Government, of the sincere desire of our own, to have all matters of dispute adjusted on terms honorable and satisactory to both nations.

Another point in the instructions, is in effect, that the mere proclamation declaring the rebels entitled to belligerent rights, is not in itself, a cause for demanding damages or a separate ground, of complaint, but this taken in connection with subsequent acts, was unfriendly, and shewed a spirit of hostility against the United States during the late war, resulting in losses which require reparation. The instructions were prepared at the Department of State about two days before Minister Motley left this country, having there been slightly modified at the instance of President Grant himself. They were carefully considered by the Cabinet, to whom they were acceptable, and were soon thereafter handed to Motley without further amendment. The only specific instructions to Motley as to treaty negotiations are with reference to naturalization and consuls, and it is supposed, by this time, he has entered upon that duty.

The Department of State has received no positive or direct information from Minister McMahon since December last, when he arrived at Ascencion. All other information is rumor or speculation.

The latest official dispatches are dated April 8th, from Buenos Ayres and Rio de Janeiro, 24th of the same month.

Mr. Worthington, minister to Uraguay, writes from Buenos Ayres, that he had demanded of the Argentine Government, either an escort through the allied lines or for permission for a United States escort to pass through them to enable our government to communicate with minister McMahon.

Both the Buenos Ayrean and Brazilian governments have refused, on the ground that it could not then be granted without affecting the proposed hostile movements which were soon up the communication desired.

Mr. Worthington replied that he had already waited forty days for the movements to be made; that the right of the Government of the United States to have the communication made was undisputed, and as the allies would not aid our Government, it would be driven to its own resources to obtain the communication.

Commander Kirkland, of the Wasp, had a sharp correspondence with the Brazilian and Buenos Ayrean governments, on the subject.

RICHMOND, June 15.—Mass meeting of conservatives this afternoon. Business houses all closed, and about 4 000 persons assembled in the park. The tenor of the speeches made was, that while neither negro suffrage, nor even the expurgated constitution were desirable, yet all should be accepted that the State might again return to the Union, and peace and prosperity be restored. The claims of Walker, the Conservative Republican candidate for Governor, was urged, and recognized with enthusiasm by the audience.

DR. HUNTER ON CHRONIC SORE THROAT.

LETTER NO. IV.

To the Editor of the Constitution: SIR—In the preceding letters I pointed out the nature, symptoms and treatment of Catarrh and Ozena, and explained how these affections gradually lay the foundation of Consumption and foster the disease in the lungs after it has been established. In the present I shall pass from the consideration of the diseases of the Nose to those of the Throat.

These two cavities and their numerous dependencies are lined by one continuous mucous membrane which extends downwards through the Larnyx into the lungs, and consequently disease, commencing in one part, rapidly extends itself to the other. That portion lining the throat and larnyx is filled with follicles or little glands, which in their healthy condition secrete a bland lubricating mucus, that keeps the throat and surrounding structures soft and moist. After repeated attacks of Common or Simple Sore Throat, these glands become chronically enlarged and indurated, when we have the condition known as "Granular Sore Throat."

It is called granular, because little points, or granulations, are seen scattered over the surface of the mucous membrane. These little elevations are caused by the enlargement of the mucous follicles before mentioned. Most persons are liable to frequent light attacks of simple sore throat from taking cold. These occur, perhaps, two or three times a year, but appear to pass off without injury to health. After a time, however, the patient becomes conscious of a vexatious titillation, producing a desire to clear the throat several times in the course of each day. He may not notice this himself, but it is, nevertheless, observed by his friends. Some months latter this disposition is found to have increased, and to be attended with an occasional desire to swallow—the patient, to use his own phrase, "feeling something sticking in his throat." On looking into the throat, under these circumstances, the granulations before mentioned will be found studding the membrane, and causing it to appear rough and uneven. Sometimes they exist in irregular-shaped patches, but most commonly are regular in shape, and each one distinct. When allowed to progress, the mucons follicles within the larynx soon become affected; and then we have added to the other symptoms, a huskiness of the voice in speaking or reading aloud, with frequent efforts to clear the windpipe, by which a thick, sticky, bluish-colored mucus is forced up, with considerable difficulty.

In no case should this disease be neglected; for it is exceedingly prone to proceed downward slowly, but surely, to the trachea and bronchial tubes and lungs, until the patient finds, to his sorrow, that it is but a step from the common chronic affection of the throat to confirmed disease of the lungs.

ULCERATIVE AND GANGRENOUS INFLAMMATION OF THE THROAT, popularly called ulcerated and malignant Sore Throat, are generally the results of the simple variety where there is a scrofulous or syphilitic taint in the system, with an impure, vitiated condition of the blood; where the health has been depraved by unwholesome and insufficient food, and the constitutional powers broken down by intemperance and vicious habits. If the disease is not checked in time by proper treatment, it progresses rapidly, until the Uvula, Soft Palate and roof the mouth are eaten away, and the power of speech is almost, if not entirely, lost; and while the life of the unhappy victim lasts, his disease renders him loathsome to himself and those by whom he is surrounded, and he is ever ready to welcome death as a deliverer.

TREATMENT.—In the treatment of the chronic form of Granular Sore Throat, the same course should be pursued as that prescribed for chronic Catarrh. Granular Sore Throat is purely a local affection, and can only be cured by local treatment. I use the Catarrh syringe and gargles frequently; and when the larynx is also affected, the Inhaling instrument and warm astringent inhalations, morning and evening.

Some years ago it became fashionable to treat this affection by applying to the diseased parts a strong solution of nitrate of silver or lunar caustic, with a probang or sponge. These applications occasion great suffering to the patient, and burn and disorganize the mucous membrane, without accomplishing the tenth part of the good attained by milder means. When the larynx has become affected, it is both cruel and dangerous to force into the delicate organ of the voice, designed by nature for the reception of air, strong, irritating caustics. Fully one-half of the consumptive patients, whose cases have come under my care, had been previously treated for diseases of the throat by these nitrate of silver applications, and, as they assure me, without any permanent benefit. Indeed many of them do not hesitate to attribute the diseases of their lungs to the practice of burning their throats.

The more cases thus ignorantly tortured the greater will be the annual mortality from Consumption.

My next letter will be on Chronic Bronchitis. JAMES A. HUNTER, M. D.

National Hotel, Atlanta, Ga., June 15.

INHALATION.

Sir Chas. Scudamore's Testimony.

"For the sake of humanity, then, I recommend the treatment, and will report what I have said in the preface to the work already mentioned. It is not on selfish grounds I advocate the practice. What concerns my reputation is personal and transient and of little moment; what relates to science and the interest of mankind is for all ages and of inestimable importance."—[London Lancet.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhoea, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, Bilis, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood Melancholy or Depression of Spirits

Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR there can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED

LIVER. Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, an he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, when ever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. As a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.

Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks if by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.

Regulator For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as adults, eat sometimes too much or eat something which does not digest well, producing sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness; a dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.

Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in day time sleepy, wool-gathering, can't understand what they read, can't remember their thoughts on any one subject so as to reason well, or become forgetful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.

Pregnant ladies will find sure relief from their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., etc.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::::: JUNE 16.

BARRETT & GRIFFIN'S auction sale tomorrow morning.

WHEAT, June 12th—New York, $1 40a $1 41½; Cincinnati, $1 15@2 00; St. Louis $1 08a $1 10; Chicago, $1 05a$1 08.

EPSEY HURT.—The colored female, Epsey Hurt, who was shot some time since, by the suicide Foy, has fully recovered, we understand, from the wound.

GODEY'S.—We are indebted to Messrs. Phillips & Crew for the July number of Godey's Lady's Book. All the publications of the day can be had at their book store.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.—Among the letters held for postage in the Griffin Post Office, we see one for Miss Jennie E. Baxter, Atlanta, and one for Isaac Howe, Athens.

COULDN'T BEAR IT.—A gentleman who had a mangy cur of low degree, only fit to suck eggs, thought he would get rid of him, so he named him "Kent McCoy." The dog tucked his tail between his legs and left in a trot. He was shortly afterwards found in the suburbs dead—suspended by his tail to a tree. He couldn't stand the name, so he committed suicide.

OLD BUILDINGS SOLD.—Yesterday Col. Adair sold the old buildings on the Scofield property. The one story building on the lot owned by Mr. Thrasher, brought $27, and was bid off by B. H. Broomhead. The two story building on the corner of Whitehall and Hunter streets, on the lot belonging to John H. James, sold for $125 to John Ryan. The next building on same lot, on Hunter street, was bought by B. H. Broomhead for $52.

BACON.—Bacon is rising steadily, having advanced over one cent in the last few weeks. Holders are looking greasy with joy; even their perspiration looks oily with delight. Oh, lard, be praised they cry, that we saved our bacon until now. We met an Alabama street merchant and asked him what he thought of the decision of the Supreme Court on the negro eligibility question? He replied, "clear sides, 20 cts."

CALLED TO PREACH.—The papers tell a story of a member of the —— persuasion, who, ambitious of ministerial honors, was praying in the woods for some divine manifestation of a call to preach. While so engaged a John Donkey set up one of those cries for which his race is peculiar, which Walker mistook for an affirmative reply to his appeal. Whereupon he applied for license, when the following colloquy occurred between him and the interrogating preacher:

Pastor—"Do you believe, brother Walker, that you are called of God to preach, as was Aaron?"

Walker—"Most sartainly I does."

W.—"I was mightily diffikilted, and I was determined to go into the woods and wrastle it out."

P.—"That is it, brother Walker."

W.—"And while thar wrastlin', Jacob like, I hern one of the curiousest voices I ever hern in my borned days."

P.—"You are on the right track, Bro. Walker. Go on with the narration."

W.—"I couldn't tell, for the life o'me, whether the voice was up in the air or down in the skye, it sounded so curious."

P.—"Poor creetur! how he was diffikilted. Go on to norrate, Brother Walker. How did it appaar to sound unto you?"

W.—"Why, this way: "Waw-waw-ker! Waw-waw-ker! Go preach, go preach, go preach, go preach-ah, go preach-ah-ee-uh-ah-ee-ah!"

P.—"Bruthering and sisters, that's the right sort of a call. Enough said, Brother Walker. That's none of your college calls, nor money calls. No doctor of divinity ever got sech a cool as that. Brother Walker must have a license fur sartin and for sure."

The license was granted, the story goes, and Walker is now, doubtless making the mountains ring with his stentorian lungs.

WOMAN'S HEROISM—Anecdote of Disraeli's Wife.—A story is told of Lady Beaconfield's devotion to her lord and his amition, which if true, is a touching commentary on the unselfishness of womanly affection. On one occasion, when Disraeli was Chancellor of the Exchequer, his wife accompanied him to the Parliament House. It was "Budget" night—the most momentous of all sessions to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, for he had to unfold his financial plan for the ensuing year to a critical and not too easily satisfied House. Disraeli, as he took his place in the carriage, was wholly wrapt up in his subject and his figures; it was a crisis in his career; if he failed this night, he might well take Wolsey's advice to Cromwell, "Fling away ambition!" His wife entered the carriage also, softly, so as not to disturb the thinker. In getting in, however, her finger was caught by the door, which, shutting upon it jammed it terribly and held it so fast that she could not withdraw it. She uttered no cry, made no movement; her pain and agony must have been intense. There was the finger crushed between the pannels: to speak or to endeavor to withdraw it would disturb her lord—would drive the figures and arguments from his head. So there stayed the finger, every moment more painful, until they reached the House; nor did Disraeli hear a word of it till long after the famous debate of that night had become history. All that evening the faithful wife sat in the gallery that her husband's quick-glancing eye might not miss her from it: she bore the pain like a martyr and like a woman who loves.

No wonder that by her husband's act she has become Viscountess Beaconsfield: still less wonder that, as Lady Beaconsfield, she is honored in England's proudest castles, and has taken her place in the hereditary society as naturally and easily as if she too had been "to the manor born."—Lippincott's Magazine.

PLAIN TALK—The Baltimore Statesman on Hoar—Yet, through this one puppet of party, perched in a judicial place, martial law is to reign supreme in each of the reconstructed States, and as if this were not enough, Georgia, which has been already reconstructed upon the terms demanded by Congress, is now left to the same individual to say whether she is in or out of the Union! One man decides whether three States of this Republic, so-called, are to be governed by civil or military authority, and the same man is empowered to remand, by an opinion, a State already in the Union on the principles of the Radicals themselves, to the outside darkness of military despotism!

☞ A most remarkable case of conformity to hotel rules, at some personal inconvenience, is thus related by the Cleveland Plaindealer: "A guest at one of our hotels, the other evening, was discovered by the proprietor rather tenderly embracing the chambermaid. The landlord rebuked him somewhat angrily, and wanted to know the reason of such conduct. "Simply obeying the rules of the house," said the guest, pointing to a card tacked to the room door. "Don't it read, 'Any neglect of the servants should be reported at the office?' I don't want to be reported at the office for neglect of servants, do I?"

☞ The Chicago Times says of the $100,000 damages awarded to Miss Amanda F. Craig, that "nobody in his right mind can feel the least doubt that she would much rather, at any stage of the proceedings, have taken that sum than to have taken the phonetic old Sighing Strephon who poured out his amorons soul on the 'story of his building' in the most damnable orthography that the world ever beheld."

Virginia Springs.

THE MONTGOMERY WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, will be open the 1st of June next. Before the war this was the most popular watering place in Virginia. Its situation in Southwestern Virginia on the Eastern slope of the Alleghanies, gives it beautiful scenery, a healthful climate, and pure bracing air. Messrs. Wilson & Lorentz, two enterprising Virginians, have leased it for a term of five years, have thoroughly repaired, newly furnished, and will open it on a scale surpassing its former grandeur. Visitors to this place travel the entire distance by Rail. Getting off at Big Tunnel Station, on the Va., & Tenn., R. R. they are conveyed into the Reception House in ten minutes, on the Springs Branch R. R. New Baths, Billiard and Bowling Saloons, have been erected for the comfort and amusement of visitors. Post-office, Telegraph, Express and Ticket-offices are on the premises. Daily lines of stages will run to the Greenbriar White, on a route through the wildest scenery in Virginia. Travelers between points North and South, will find this a most delightful resting place. The fare has been reduced to the moderate price of $3 per day, $20 per week, and $70 per month, giving the privilege of special rates to large parties for longer time. may7-2taw2m

☞ That Tennyson is engaged on the longest poem ever written by man, that Dickens has a new novel nearly completed, and that Fechter is about to visit this country, are among the items which every well-regulated American newspaper keeps in type. But this time the last statement is correct. Fechter really is coming to the United States on a professional tour.

☞ A German paper tells the story that in 1846, a young farmer and landwehr lieutenant, named Zehrman, emigrated to America and enlisted in the army. It details the successive steps in his career, and says that during the late American war he came a General. It adds that Americans call him Sherman.

THE NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

ASSETS, $12,000,000.

IS STRICTLY A MUTUAL COMPANY.

Its policies are non-forfeiting after the second annual payment.

Its profits are divided among its policy-holders, there being no stockholders in the Company.

Its reserve fund is $9,473,594 62.

Its income from interest, $766,144 13.

Its disbursements for losses, $741,043 22.

It is therefore safe to hold its policies.

Its divisible surplus is $1,689,252 17.

It affords therefore a good investment for your funds.

The following is a list of Policies, lapsed by reason of non-payment during the war, which have been re-instated and placed in the same position as if they had never lapsed, or otherwise satisfactorily adjusted, at the option of the policy holder. We deem this the best evidence of the willingness of the Company to settle all just and reasonable claims for lapsed policies liberally:

KNOWING from long experience the requirements of the Southern trade and with the facilities for manufacturing, I reckon I can give

The "Tilton style" Buggy, for workmanship and material has NO EQUAL, except the "Abbot" buggy. My Repository, one of the largest in the city, possesses the advantage in its location of costing less than half the rent of those uptown, I can therefore offer my vehicles at less price.

Those who have had my work require no reference; but to those unacquainted I would respectfully refer to:

For my new style of slide seat Buggy I refer to Messrs Jno. M. Clarke & Son, attorneys at law, Atlanta, Ga., who have recently purchased one.

City and Suburban Affairs.

SUPREME COURT.

PUBLISHED BY R. J. HAMMOND, SUPREME COURT REPORTER, EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION.

TUESDAY MORNING, June 15, 1869.

W. W. Giddings, of Spring Place, and J. A. Cotten, of Thomaston, Ga., were admitted to the bar.

James Powell vs. B. D. Parker and S. W. R. R. Co., equity from Randolph. Affirmed.

Erly Varner vs. Benjamin Wootten, rule from Randolph. Reversed.

S. H. Hawkins vs. E. B. Loyless, motion to enforce attorney's lien for fees, from Webster. Affirmed.

W. H. Chappell, adm'r, vs. W. S. Akin, equity from Webster. Reversed.

Henry R. S. Long vs. Edward McDonald—Complaint from Early. Reversed.

The Court differing in the reasons for their judgment in this case, delivered opinions seriatim. These reasons were at great length and occupied the Court till the hour of adjournment.

The decisions will be given in our morning edition.

A JEREMY DIDDLER COME TO GRIEF.—A young man who went to Macon on Friday from this city and registered his name at the Brown House as A. Austen from Louisville, Ky., has been arrested under the following circumstances detailed by the Macon Telegraph:

"After breakfast he called at the foundry and iron works of J. S. Schofield, and presented to that gentleman a letter of credit which purported to be from one Jno. B. Davies, 'Washington Foundry,' Louisville, Ky. This letter referred to the bearer as 'my son. Rees Davies,' and upon it Mr. Schofield, at the request of the young man endorsed a draft upon Jno. B. Davies, of Louisville, for $75, and upon this draft the young man obtained the money at one of our banks. On separating from Mr. S., Davies went to the hotel and took dinner, and in a little while after Mr. Schofield called to take a ride with him.

"In referring to the hotel register before Davies made his appearance, Mr. S. noticed that there was no name answering to that which the young man had given, and he began to 'smell a very large sized mice.' When Davies came in, Mr. S. called his attention to the register and demanded an explanation. It was given, but it was not at all satisfactory. The advanced money was then demanded, which was handed over, and officer Ferrell was called to take the gent in hand. He was placed in jail, and at his request a telegram was sent to Louisville, to one A. Dent, in which the prisoner requested Dent to endorse and identify him. Dent replied that he did not understand the telegram. This looked very suspicious, but the prisoner still asserted his ability to exculpate himself.

"We called on him in the afternoon, and from our interview, we are certain he is well posted in Louisville affairs and knows many business men of that city. He is about 25 years old, five feet six or seven inches high, dark complexion, black hair, nearly black eyes, sports a small black mustache, and will weigh 135 or 140 pounds. This description answers very well except as to the height of stature, to the description of a partner of Hoffman, who robbed Adams' Express in Baltimore, on the 19th ult., of $16,000 in bonds and money.

"Davies says he registered his name as Austen, because he played the villain with a respectable girl in Kentucky, and had heard that her father was pursuing him and by this means hoped to elude him. A warrant will be sued out against him. A swindling. He will be held fast until he is identified, and make[illegible] a better shewing than he has thus far made."

A GOOD MOVE.—The City Council on Monday night, adopted a resolution to span the Georgia Railroad on Bell street (opposite the Cemetery) with a bridge, so as to make it a convenient place for persons to cross. They also resolved to continue Hunter street by constructing a tunnel under the Macon and Western Railroad. These new routes will be of much service to our citizens. Contractors will notice the City Engineer's card in another column.

THREE DROMIOS.—The Senator from the 34th (Rural?) district, we learn, was yesterday taken for the local of this paper, and shortly afterwards by another man for Judge Ezzard's law partner. From this it will be seen that the Senator from the thirty-fourth is improving in his personal appearance.

A. D. NUNNALLY.—We were pleased to meet this morning, our friend the "old man eloquent" the handsome and genial senator from the 26th—Col. A. D. Nunnally, who is here attending to some important professional business.

FAILURE OF THE NORTHERN MAIL.—The mails from New York, failed to arrive here yesterday and this morning. The Post Office is not responsible for such failures.

OFF FOR NEWNAN.—Col. W. L. Goldsmith left this morning for Newnan, as counsel in a possessory warrant case, to be tried there.

RETURNED.—Our worthy business manager, W. A. Hemphill, returned home this morning, from a brief visit to the classic city of Athens.

NATIONAL HOTEL RESTAURANT.—The National Hotel Restaurant is to be opened this afternoon, with imposing ceremonies.

FULTON SUPERIOR COURT.—This body adjourned this morning, until to-morrow morning.

"THAT'S MY WIFE THAT STOPS IN THE ROOM WITH ME."—The habitues of one of our favorite hotels were very much amused the other day. A fresh married couple arrived from the country. The lady was young, plump, pretty, and, although "as pure as snow and chaste as ice," seems to have conveyed the idea to certain parties in the house that she was one of those "who seem not of the earth, but yet are on it." The husband was an honest, ingenuous chap, and fearfully verdant in the ways of the world, as will be seen. The pair had been at the house some twenty-four hours, when the bride-groom walked up to the clerk and remarked: "That's my wife that stops in the room with me."

"Yes, I suppose so," was the blank reply of the clerk.

"Well, I thought I'd mention it," continued Mr. Verdant, "so you wouldn't think it strange in my complaining. I never like to find fault, you know; but we're kind of bothered, and I don't hardly know what to do. We've only been here since yesterday, and my wife has been invited to go to ride three times, and to go to the minstrel's shows likewise, and just now a sleek looking chap knocked at the door and wanted to know if she was alone, and another actually inquired if 'that countryman she had on the string was gone.' I've no doubt these young men mean well enough," continued he, "but they are too dogoned polite for me; though I s'pose it's city fashions."

The poor fellow was assured that the "well-meaning" young men should not annoy him any further with their politeness, and he retired apparently much gratified.—Rock Island Argus.

☞ It is a sad reflection; but a one legged man can never be re-membered.

Prophylactic Fluid!

A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD!

We challenge the world to produce a better or a stronger recommendation for any article for any purpose than the following:

NOVEMBER 15th, 1868.

We very cheerfully unite our testimony in favor of the great merits of the valuable disinfectant manufactured by PROF DARBY, and known as Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. From the reputation of Prof. Darby as a scientific gentleman, from our own knowledge of this preparation, and from the general esteem in which it is held wherever known, we have no hesitation in recommending it as one of the most valuable household articles with which we are acquainted.

J. J. MORRISON,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

I HAVE taken an office with Col. George N. Lester, State Commissioner of Land and Immigration, and have made arrangements by which the titles to all real estate sold by me will be examined and approved by him. He will also see that all conveyancing done through my office is in proper and legal form. Persons having real estate in the city or elsewhere for sale, would do well to place it in my hands, as this arrangement gives me unusual facilities for effecting a ready and profitable sale.

Office on Whitehall street, fronting the Railroad.
